

EXPLORABLE
Think Outside The Box

Published on Explorable.com (<https://explorable.com>)

Home > Cultivating Resilience

Cultivating Resilience

Lyndsay T. Wilson 9.6K reads

Portrait of a Resilient Person

Being your unique self is always most important, but having a positive example to inspire change in your life can also be helpful. You too can be the image of a resilient, calm person!

Quick, close your eyes and think of someone you know and admire for their ability to never worry too much or become overwhelmed with fear. If you can't think of someone real, a fictional or movie character is OK, too, or you could imagine a person composed of elements from separate people you know.

The banner features the Explorable logo and the text "Quiz Time!" in a white, handwritten-style font on an orange background. Below the text are three quiz cards, each with a white border and a central image:

- Card 1: Image of red roller skates on a wooden deck. Text: "Quiz: Psychology 101 Part 2"
- Card 2: Image of a fan of colorful pens. Text: "Quiz: Psychology 101 Part 2"
- Card 3: Image of a Ferris wheel at sunset. Text: "Quiz: Flags in Europe"

To the right of the cards is a white link: See all quizzes =>

Important Qualities

Now, ask yourself what qualities this person possesses. Do they:

- Have a ridiculous sense of humor
- Never seem to rush
- Seem to have deep inner calm about life in general
- Have some spiritual or religious conviction that seems to strengthen them
- Participate in calming hobbies like meditation or long walks
- Know how to have fun

- Know how to laugh at themselves
- Know how to put up with uncertainty without being stressed by the unknown
- Step away from unnecessarily stressful situations
- Have a support network to help them through difficulty

What else can you add to that list?

How Does That Relate to You?

In your journal, pick just one or two of these characteristics and make a small goal for yourself to nurture that characteristic in your own personality. If you admire someone's ability to always be able to laugh at themselves instead of worrying about failure, for example, set yourself a goal to achieve that.

How to Do It?

If you have chosen, as a goal, to learn to laugh at yourself, deliberately do something a little scary or outside your comfort zone, find the funny aspects of the situation and laugh at yourself, whatever the outcome.

If you admire someone's commitment to their meditation practice, vow to meditate for twenty minutes today, and actually do it.

Source URL: <https://explorable.com/e/cultivating-resilience?gid=21286>