These types of questions should really be reserved for experienced researchers. Statistically evaluating the responses which can lead to a biased view, if care is not taken. These types of questions should really be reserved for experienced researchers.