There are two main ways that academic papers are published in any field. The most used standards for referencing in research papers are APA-standard and MLA-standard.

To resubmit the journal though, you will have to check with your faculty or school to know exactly how to write the paper - the format or standard varies with the journal. You will have to check with your faculty or school to know exactly how to write the paper - the format or standard varies with the journal.

The most used standards for referencing in research papers are APA-standard and MLA-standard.

The main text. By the way, here is another great resources on how to write a research paper.